

That's Mushing

A new movie about the everyday life of a professional musher and his sled dogs:

Grand Nord Films presents:

That's Mushing! is an amazing trip inside

The journey starts in Switzerland where Emil Inauen has settled his kennel of about thirty Alaskan Huskies and where we'll discover how he is working with his dogs. You'll learn how he succeeded to turn these known-to-be-difficult dogs into friendly pet dogs but also and especially into incredible athletes, able to run long hours in extreme conditions.

We'll then head towards the French Alps where Emil and the dogs run La Grande Odyssee, a very tough race for the dogs and for the mushers because of the huge altitude difference, at more than 2000 meters high.

Then we'll leave to the far North far above the arctic circle in the Norwegian tundra to join Emil and his wife Barbara on the frozen trail of the Finnmarkslopet, the northernmost race in the world.

During that unique trip you'll have the chance to witness the extraordinary bond that links the man and his dogs through the trials they share in the great wild spaces.
